lege last week to attend one of the famous Wednesday evening soirees at the residence of Professor Graham Bell, at Washington, D. C., the inventor of the telephone, graphophone, and one of the world's greatest scientists.
These Wednesday evening meetings gather unto themselves each week famous men who happen to be in Washington, where they meet thereal Washingtonians, men and women interested in leading in science, art, belles-lettres and social welfare work.
There is nothing with which one can compare these meetings except it be the salons of Paris, although even right here in Santa Fe, the Archaeological society has had similar meetings at hospitable homes, like those of Judge and Mrs. N. B. Laughlin, Judge and Mrs. John R. McFie, the executive mansion, and others.Professor Bell has just turned seventy years, and is a patriarchal figure with long, flowing white beard and of marvelous mental and bodily vigor.
At a congress of scientists the day before he had read a paper seeking to prove that children born to parents in their youth are longer lived than those born to parents well advanced about it. At the congress and Professor Harvey Wiley, the famous pure food expert, who married late in life and is inordinately proud of his two baby boys, came back at him in a talk that was a paragon of wit and humor.Professor Bell seated himself in the center of the room at promptly nine o'clock and opened the evening's discussion, giving it a direction toward the consideration of "Preparedness." and "The Great War." Professor Washington, the noted geologist, opposed the discussion along linguistic lines. He found ground for optimism in the fact that the good and strong words denoting the admirable human qualities are all root words, and that the words denoting negative qualities, "viciousness," "are mostly derivatives formed afterwards by affixing such prefixes as "in" and "un." Some of the speakers that followed were not quite so optimistic and "some were downright pessimists." One of the most striking talks was made by Dr.
Kim, the famous Chinese woman physician. She chose as her text the words: "He who controlleth his own spirit is greater than he who taketh a city." She gave a wonderful insight into the philosophy as viewed in the of Chinese Christianity. Her experiences in social work in China and America have made her an authority and her command of the English lan-guage is such that she would rank high as a pulpit orator had she chosen that occupation.The talks were from five to ten minutes in length, right to the point, thoughtful, without unnecessary introductions or rambling excuses, and the consensus seemed to be that training for national preparedness must begin in the schools at an early age. The only address exceeding the time limit was that by Mrs. Walcott, wife of the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who socially ranks with cabinet officers. She gave a talk on the Canisian Rockies, illustrating it with superb colored slides from photographs which were used in part as copy for the splendid full-page pictures in the latest issue of the National Geographic Magazine. Gilbert Hovey Grosvenor, editor of the National Geographic Magazine, with his father and mother, were in attendance. Secretary of the Interior Lane, Dr. Mitchell Carroll, general secretary of the Archaeological Institute, Dr. Robinson, editor of Art and Archaeology, both of the latter having been in Santa Fe in recent years. W. C. Barnes, former member of the New Mexico legislature but now high in the United States forest service; Dr. Jastrow, the famous Astronomist, who promised to visit Santa Fe this month; Dr. A. T. Clay, of Pennsylvania university, who is a confirmed Santa Fe booster since he lectured in the Old Palace, were among the three-score or more of prominent people in attendance.Colonel Fuller, who was in Santa Fe three years ago, made an eloquent appeal for a more vital patriotism and spoke glowingly of Santa Fe, recalling that he was shown special courtesies "by a handsome young judge whose name had slipped him but who was known about town for having run his automobile into a saloon window one day because of his antagonism to the liquor business." In fact, wherever in Washington the name Santa Fe is mentioned, there doors open wide and a delightful interest is manifested in New Mexico. Washingtonians appear to know more about the cliff dwellings, the Indian pueblos, the School of American Archaeology, at Santa Fe, than do New Mexicans.THE FIFTEEN CLUB.
An invitation to be her guests in the famous rose garden at Santa Juan has been extended by Mrs. Samuel Eldott, of Chamita, to the Fifteen club. The club held its last meeting with Mrs. George Marsh and Mrs. William H. Pope presided, those in attendance being Mesdames Pope Laughlin, Marsh, Atkinson, Parker, Weltmer, Hewett, Walter, Jones, Rapp, Carruth and Reber. Mrs.
Laughlin reviewed most interestingly "A Far Country," citing selections that portrayed admirably the spirit and philosophy of the book. Quotations and current events filled in the rest of the program. The club meets on Friday of this week with Miss Massie and Mrs. Rapp will preside.with Mrs. George Marsh and Mrs. Wil-

K. M. Chapman, Carlos Vierra, Mrs.
I. H. Rapp, Miss Masie and Dr. Edgar L. Hewett have been designated an art committee who will pass on art exhibits offered for exhibition at the museum. The first applicant to make an exhibit is Karl Winter, a young man who is doing excellent work both in landscape and figure. An exhibit is expected at an early date from Bert Phillips, of the Taos art colony. The Santa Fe art colony is growing, and this week was augmented by the arrival of Ben Blessun, a Chicago artist, who will spend the spring and summer painting and sketching among the cliff dwellings and at Santa Clara and San Juan pueblos.AN ANCIENT ART.
Truly instructive and well prepared was the paper on "Filligree, a Transplanted Art," read this week before the Santa Fe Woman's club by Mrs.
William J. Barker. She told interestingly of the beginnings of the art in the dim ages of the past, springing out of the love for ornamentation possessed even by the primitive man.
The evolution of hooks and necklaces was described and wooden beads from the collections of the museum were used to exemplify the eye beads and wampum of the aborigines of the southwest. The history of wedding and betrothal rings was gone into and their use as amulets, scarabs, signets, ecclesiastical rings, poison rings, the evil eye, and charms were some of the topics touched upon.The new movement for art in jewelry was dwelt upon as against the stereotyped, machine-made jewelry. The exquisite handcraft of filligree work transplanted to New Mexico was traced back to the Moors and the process of its manufacture was described.
In connection therewith some of the old customs and traditions connected with jewelry in the southwest weregone into. Several fine heirlooms and specimens of the craft from local sources were displayed and much admired. The talk aroused a new enthusiasm for the preservation of such ancient arts as that of filligree work of which Santa Fe has been the center for so many years.IN HONOR OF VISITORS.
A delightful dinner party was given Saturday evening at the De Vargas by Judge and Mrs. Lorin C. Collins, in honor of Major and Mrs. J. F. McGill, Major McGill left for Norfolk, Va., to board the Florida of the second division of Uncle Sam's Atlantic fleet.
Mrs. McGill, with her two children, will be the guests of her parents, Judge and Mrs. Collins, for the summer. Canvases were laid for twelve, as follows: Major and Mrs. McGill, Lieut. and Mrs. Hustine, Mr. and Mrs. Don P.
Johnston, Mrs. C. H. Cochran, Adjutant General Herring, Mrs. A. S.
Brookes, Dr. James A. Masie and Judge and Mrs. Collins.SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.
Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A.
Haynes, of Johnston street, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary. In the evening friends gathered and surprised Mrs. Haynes. The party proved most delightful.MOST INTERESTING PROGRAM.
The program for the meeting of the Woman's club in the Palace of the Governors, on Tuesday afternoon, was under the direction of Mrs. Harry L.
Wilson, librarian of the museum and leader of the class in archaeology.
Mrs. Wilson abandoned the May meeting of her class so that the whole club might enjoy K. M. Chapman's talk on "The Graphic Art of the Cave Dwellers."The class in archaeology during the past season has been most notable and enjoyed exceedingly by both the leader and the members.
Director Edgar L. Hewett addressed

CALOMEL TODAY, SICK TOMORROWDose of nasty calomel makes you sick and you lose a day's work.Calomel salivates! It's mercury.
Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with your bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.
If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drugist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.
If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.How's This?We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any
